Post House Opens

The new Post House in Miner formally opened today with a ribbon cutting ceremony at 11:30 a.m.

The restaurant and rest stop facility is the 140th to open in the United States. It will be managed by Mr. and Mrs. Vohn Francis.

The rest stop will be open 24 hours a day. It will not serve as a bus depot. Greyhound bus customers will continue to buy tickets at Kellett's restaurant.

Present for the ribbon cutting were: I. L. Mullins, Atlanta, vice president of southern division of Post Houses Inc., a subsidiary of Greyhound Corp., and LeRoy Logsdon, regional manager of Southern Greyhound Lines, Memphis.

Officials present included Mayor Kendall Sikes, L. L. Wheeler, City Manager Raymert Miller, Chamber of Commerce President William Huff and Harold Vogel.

Buses will begin stopping at the Post House at midnight.

Surveyors Given Peek at State's Oldest Archives

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Secy. of State James C. Kirkpatrick gave the Missouri Association of Land Surveyors today a glimpse of some of the old documents in his archives—the oldest dating back to 1770.

The oldest was signed by Don Pedro Piernas, first lieutenant governor of the Spanish Louisiana Territory. It appointed Martin Durralde as the official surveyor of the colony.

Many other famous names are found in the old documents, including Daniel Boone, Moses Austin and Meriwether Lewis, leader of the Lewis and Clark expedition. Lewis' land was sold in 1811 to satisfy his creditors.

Records of land destroyed or damaged in the 1811-12 New Madrid earthquake are in the vaults, including references to the King's Road, Miles of it were swallowed by the Mississippi River in the earthquake.

Kirkpatrick said in his prepared speech the only remaining mention of Missouri's earliest road is Kingshighway in St. Louis.

He also said archivists believe the original survey of the Missouri-Louisiana line, long thought to be lost, is one of the documents.

One old document, dated 1894 in St. Louis, concerned two prostitutes, one squealing on the other.

Kirkpatrick invited the surveyors to examine the old plats or get copies if they need them.

Kearns Resigns From Highway Commission

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — James A. Kearns Jr. of St. Louis has resigned from the State Highway Commission and the toll turnpike authority, effective immediately.

He said his resignation now would give Gov. Warren E. Hearnes a chance to appoint a new man who would be able to participate in turnpike activities from the start.

Kearns told the governor his business commitments with Newhard-Cook and Co. of St. Louis would prevent him from giving the time to highway work.

He has been on the commission since 1965 when its membership was raised from four to six. An attorney, he is a former FBI agent and former reporter for the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Community Choir's Yule Concert Dec. 17

The community choir directed by Gordon Beaver and accompanied by Pam Blackman, will present its eighth annual Christmas concert Dec. 17 at 3 p.m. in the sanctuary of The First Methodist church. The 62 voice choir will present songs ranging from sacred to popular favorites. Included will be spirituals, modern selections and an antiphonal style of choral arrangement. Two added attractions will be the men's choir and The ladies' sextet. Each will provide two Christmas numbers. The choir and sextet were organized by their director, Mrs. Jo Anne Fox, who is in charge of the choral program at The First Methodist church and in the Morehouse pub-

Vivian Leaving Corps Post, Successor Named

MEMPHIS — Lt. Col. Charles T. Williams will become district engineer for the Memphis district effective Jan. 10.

Colonel Williams will succeed Col. James A. Vivian, district engineer since February of 1965. Colonel Vivian is completing a three-year tour of duty. He is being assigned to Vietnam, where his son, Lt. James P. Vivian, already is on duty. He will leave Memphis in mid-January.

Colonel Williams is a deputy district engineer for the Savannah district in Georgia. He has been selected for promotion to colonel, and is expected to be promoted before assuming duties in Memphis.

Born in St. Paul, Minn., Colonel Williams was commissioned in the army corps of engineers in 1946 upon his graduation from the United States military academy at West Point, N. Y. He received his master of engineering degree in civil engineering from the University of California at Berkeley. His overseas military assignments have included duty with the 93rd engineer construction battalion (Guam); in Korea with the 73rd engineer combat battalion and the 822d engineer construction group headquarters; and as commanding officer of the 76th engineer construction group; and in Germany with the 3rd armored division.

In the United States, Colonel Williams has served with the armed force special weapons group, Sandia Base, N. M., and with the engineer strategic studies group in the office, chief of engineers, Washington. In civil works he also has served with the Baltimore district of the North Atlantic division, corps of engineers.

Colonel Williams is a registered professional engineer in Vermont and a member of the Society of American Military Engineers. He and Mrs. Williams, the former Patricia Foster of Albuquerque, N. M., have two children.

Youth Killed As Truck Overtakes

ELLSINORE, Mo. (AP) — A young man was killed and three other persons injured shortly before midnight when a pickup ran off U.S. 60, five miles west of here.

Benny Wood Jr., 17, Ellsinore, a passenger in the truck, was killed when the vehicle overturned during the test.

War Protesters in New York Fail in Goals

NEW YORK (AP) — Crowds of shoppers, office workers and 140 persons, bringing the total theater patrons in Rockefeller Center for the week to 585. Most Center cheered as the police were charged with disorderly conduct and released without injuries into a van beneath bond pending hearings.

In New Haven, Conn., about one girl demonstrator, below, 30 demonstrators were arrested in the crowd was applauding when they crossed baricades at their stand, raised her hand in a Army Induction Center victory sign. The cheers became a two-hour antwar protest.

One man shouted, by as many as 400 persons. "Throw away the key after you lock them up."

Four days of protests ended Friday on that note. They had failed both in their original goal of closing down the Whitehall Street induction center and in gaining the popular support predicted by their leaders.

Today members of the "Stop the Draft Week Committee" meet to evaluate their efforts but the failure had already been explained by one demonstrator who said simply: "Blame the cops."

Some 700 demonstrators streamed through Manhattan streets Friday, clashing with police and counterdemonstrators, disrupting sightseers and Christmastime shoppers.

Workmen's Insurance Cost Employers More

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Workmen's compensation insurance will cost Missouri employers an estimated $3 1/4 million more a year under an average 5.1 rate boost approved Friday by Robert D. Schatz, state insurance superintendent.

Schatz said the increase was made necessary by liberalizing legislation passed this year. The new rates are effective on policies in force Dec. 1.

Schatz disapproved a request to use a maximum weekly payroll of $300 instead of $100 in figuring premium rates.

Cong Forces Mauled

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese soldiers fighting in the heat and mud of the Mekong Delta badly mauled a Viet Cong force of about 1,500 men and won the greatest one-day battle of the delta war, military headquarters said today.

The battle against three Viet Cong battalions began Friday morning and cost the enemy 36 dead before the day was out. During the night, the Viet Cong slipped from the battlefield in small units but after sunrise today turned again to fight closely pursuing South Vietnamese rangers.

Only sketchy details, and no casualty figures, were available on today's fighting.

Initial battle reports said 60 government soldiers were killed and 102 wounded Friday before the enemy was encircled by armored columns and pinned down after being flushed from the sanctuary of the U Minh forest 100 miles south of Saigon.

The U.S. Military Assistance Command Vietnam (MACV) was exultant over the showing of the frequently criticized South Vietnamese army. Today's MACV communiqué said, "the ARVN (Army of the Republic of Vietnam) had a smashing victory in the delta yesterday. It was the biggest single day in delta history."

Colonel Williams has served with the armed force special weapons group, Sandia Base, N. M., and with the engineer strategic studies group in the office, chief of engineers, Washington. In civil works he also has served with the Baltimore district of the North Atlantic division, corps of engineers.

Doctors Believe Heart Rejection Danger Waning

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Tiny indications that Louis Washkansky's body might be rejecting the transplanted heart he received a week ago have disappeared following slightly intensified treatment, one of the team of doctors attending him said today.

The signs were the first suggestion that the greatest threat to the heart transplant—the tendency of the body to reject foreign tissue placed in it—might have begun.

They were so small that they were no more than a "suspicion" of rejection and first appeared Friday, said Dr. T. T. O'Donnovan.

Special tests conducted today following a slight stepping up in the treatment to counter "immunological rejection" showed they had disappeared, he added, with the comment:

"The signs were minimal. Washkansky's general position predicted to improve."

Dr. O'Donnovan was a member of the transplant team of doctors headed by Dr. Christian Barnard.

Plane Crash Fatal to All 67 Aboard

Doctors Believe Heart Rejection Danger Waning

HUANUCO, Peru (AP) — The body of a Dexter man was found Friday morning in a two-room house, which was destroyed by fire in the Acuilla community.

Searchers pulled burned and maimed bodies today from jungle underbrush on the fire in the Acuilla community. The victim was identified as church at Dexter and had been crashed in flames Friday, killing everyone aboard. Sixty-seven persons, including four Americans, were believed on the flight.

A brother, Tracey Wilson, lived at the farm house.

Dawsey Wilson's car was found at the scene of the fire. His body was near the house door; he apparently was trying to get out of the house.

The victim was employed at the Bernie shoe factory.

The fire was discovered by a neighbor, Prentiss Pry, who noticed the smoke as he passed

Tingo Maria. The flight had stopped briefly at Huanuco en route from Lima, 15 miles to the north. Farmers who heard the crash later led police through thick vegetation to the wreckage scattered near a forest highway.

"Most of the bodies were burned and the others completely destroyed," said Col. Carlos Farje Allende, who led the first party to the shattered liner. Identification was difficult, he reported.

"The signs were minimal. Washkansky's general position predicted to improve."

There was no explanation for the crash.

A spokesman for Faucett said the plane was believed to have carried 67 persons—six crew members, 45 passengers from Lima and 16 who boarded in Huanuco. Although all were booked to Tingo Maria, the airline said it had not determined if anyone left the plane here.

The aircraft was packed because of the Roman Catholic Church's Immaculate Conception. All stores and offices in the country were closed and many persons took advantage of the three-day weekend to travel.

Included in the passenger list were 17 foreigners—the four Americans, an English diplomat and his wife, four French nationals, two Belgians and five Italians.

The Americans included Joseph Newman, 60, Las Vegas, Nev., and Robert and Corrine Houck, both 54, of Barberville, Ohio.

Mrs. and Mrs. Houck had been visiting their daughter, Joyce, 30, a missionary nurse at Huanuco.

The fourth American killed was identified as Evelyn Craig, 47. Her address was not given.

Merits of the production acted as if he were centuries old, played shakily by Robert Matthews.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS! VISIBLE HOUSE NUMBERS

Judging from our own experience and the testimony of others, one of the more difficult things in this world is to locate house numbers along Sikeston streets. The task is onerous by day and all but impossible by night in an overwhelmingly vast majority of cases. It is difficult to explain on any basis but pure carelessness, for we find the idea that most Sikestonians do not want to be found at home is out of the question. If Sikestonians want to give one another a really wonderful Christmas present, they can manage it by getting and displaying house numbers. In our book a gadget made of black iron and carrying the number in white set near the curb so the figures show up from both directions is perhaps the best, but numbers tacked above a door with a light playing on them also serve the wandering traveler well. Lighted numbers inside a case are nice. Think it over.

The older you are, the more risk there is in marriage.

IT WAS NONE OTHER than James J. Walker who described a reformer as a fellow who rides through a sewer in a glass-bottom boat. . . A CLIENT SAYS he needs 190 razor strokes for a workday morning shave. 840 strokes for a weekend evening shave. . . "APRIL IS the cruelist month," said Mr. T. S. Eliot. Evidently right. That's when most suicides occur. Why is a mystery.

VIEWPOINT: MISSOURIANS ARE INTERESTED Just how much interest is there in Missouri over Senator Edward V. Long's recent difficulties as exposed by Life magazine.

There are two ways of judging. One is from the editorial comment over Missouri. For the most part, the editorial comment has been most critical of Senator Long.

There seem to be some city newspapers that just can't seem to take a stand on the matter or maybe there is a small slap on the wrist for Senator Long. This is from a newspaper that ordinarily is a most righteous publication. But by far the major portion of editorial comment over this state has been most critical of Missouri's junior senator.

Not too long ago, a television station in Kansas City asked for comment on whether or not the senate ethics committee had done all that it could in its investigation of Senator Long. The results were interesting. Out of more than 6,000 persons who called in to register a vote, 78 per cent voiced the opinion that the ethics committee had not done its job well and 22 per cent of those voting thought the ethics committee has done well.

Kansas City and Jackson County are Democratic strongholds and the poll results were most indicative of the views in the Kansas City area. These results indicate that Senator Long is in deep, deep trouble over the huge sums of money he received from Morris Shenker, St. Louis attorney.

The senate ethics committee has another opportunity to show that it is sincerely interested in checking fully on Senator Long's activities. That is the way Missourians want it.

Toward the end of a political campaign, a candidate tries, in a weary sort of way, to be agreeable, but when it is over he admits to his intimate friends that sometimes the people are very trying.

Overheard at the coffee table:
"A sewing circle is a gathering where friendships hang by a thread."

Another landmark, fragment of a beloved tradition, fell before progress at Florence, Ala., recently, when an old church became rubble to make way for a filling station.

The church stood on a corner of Court Street across from the new courthouse. By lovers of tradition, the incident was labeled "The Death of the Birthplace of the Blues."

There, as a small boy, William C. Handy sat in the pews and heard his father preach. When deacons took up the collection, there arose in the church a chant - "Pass the plate, pass the plate," - and the chant bore a musical phrase W. C. Handy later was to incorporate into "Jo - Go" and "The St. Louis Blues."

Like all folklore, and much else in the world of literature and the arts, the Blues did not spring spontaneously into life by sudden inspiration, but emerged with a sort of maturity after the germ of an idea had undergone long gestation in the subconsciousness of a creative artist.

Thus a simple strain which fell upon a small boy's ears in his father's church long ago, a strain designed to open the hearts and pocketbooks of the faithful, lay dormant for decades until its moment had come.

The church is gone now, but the musical theme "Pass the plate, Pass the plate," is immortal.

Children are more willing to work for the neighbors than at home, and some of them never outgrow the inclination.

What has become of the old fashioned men who always had pins in the lapel of his coat?

HAPPY BIRTHDAY!

First and last, Christmas is a birthday anniversary.

Of course the sun never rises but that millions of men and women and children about the globe pause, that day, to say thanks in prayer and song and silence for the birth of "a Saviour which is Christ the Lord."

And every seventh day of every week of every year scores of millions come together to celebrate that birthday and to study His teachings.

Across the centuries each new generation has created new and enduring observances of the birthday; architects have built their most magnificent chapels and cathedrals as a place to come together in His memory; artists have devoted untold hours to breath-taking scenes of His life and love, His birth and death; and joyous music is fashioned by composers of every age and nationality. Not every song speaks of Him whose birthday we celebrate, but each is part of the pageant of remembering and observing. It is difficult, for example, to imagine that any future civilization will ever again celebrate His birthday without singing again and again a song our Irving Berlin ended with the invocation "And may all your Christmases be white," . . . one of the most repeated contributions of our own generation.

And so it has been, and should be. For no single birth, or life, or death, has meant so much. Even as we venture beyond our world for the first time, we hear Major Gordon Cooper saying: "Father, we thank you especially for letting me fly this flight . . . for the privilege of being able to be in this position, to be in this wondrous place, seeing all these startling, wonderful things that you have created."

Let it be remembered as we bow this Christmas that the birth we celebrate was accomplished while the Mother "went to be taxed, every one into his own city."

Jesus was born into a world in bondage. The Apostle Paul best expressed the significance of Him whose birthday we celebrate in his admonition to the Galatians:

"Stand fast therefore in the liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free and not be entangled again with the yoke of bondage."

Happy Birthday!

AN ADMONITION FOR EVERY DAY IN 1968:
"This Christmas Remember the Simple Things too."

Take a minute to say "thank you" for the blessings you have known this year .. say it in the small deeds that can often do more to express thanks . . . a package to our boys overseas . . . a gift to your favorite charity . . . a prayer that the spirit of the Christmas Season will one day live among all men forever.

PRETTY CLEVER BURGLAR, this one. Before lighting out to work, he goes to the dog pound and therein pets any female pup that definitely appears to be in a romantic mood. The scent on his hands then interests watchdogs, but doesn't irritate them. They never bark, he says. Am not at liberty to reveal the source of this information, but I believe it to be an accurate account.

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

DREW PEARSON SAYS: Mrs. Johnson set aside one month to help Lynda with her wedding; one important part of education is family togetherness; the Johnson girls learned about taxes from the President of the United States.

WASHINGTON -- As the first White House wedding in 53 years takes place today, all eyes will be on the tall, angular President of the United States and the tall, dark-haired daughter standing beside him. The lady who had most to do with bringing up the bride will be in the background.

But this lady has some very definite, unpublicized ideas on the role of a mother at important times in the lives of her daughters.

"And with Lynda, she and I

On a Saturday afternoon we're likely just the spur of the moment to go down to the National Theater or to the Arena to see a play and then just talk, talk about it. Or if we're in New York and have two spare hours, we may go to the Frick gallery and walk through it and give out probably not so erudite but certainly very positive opinions about all the paintings.

It's fun to do things together. It's important too, I don't know whether I'm making myself clear or not."

"Very clear. Did you have certain principles in educating your of these things very frankly in an interview the other day.

"Do you have time for your daughters?" she was asked, "as much as you want?"

"Not as much as one wants," Mrs. Johnson replied. "But I think I have a clear realization that I don't have any more important business in the world than my husband and my daughters. If I don't, Heaven help me."

"What do you think is the most important thing in educating children?"

RELAXING WITH LUCI "I suppose our personal life together. The joy of being together cannot be overstated.

LEARNING A SKILL

"Yes, and I repeated them so much that the girls began to laugh and say them back to me before I could reach the end of the sentence.

"I would tell them that I hoped that sometime in their education they would acquire a tool, a skill, that would enable them to get a job; because they might not marry, they might lose their husband, they might be there are all sorts of ways in which you could find yourself needing to make your own living in this world."

"Besides that, having a skill gives you a sense of self-assurance. So I had always talked to them about how important it was to learn typing and shorthand, until it got to be rather laughable and they would toss it right back at me. "Also, I very much hope

Judging from our own experience and the testimony of others, one of the more difficult things in this world is to locate house numbers along Sikeston streets. The task is onerous by day and all but impossible by night in an overwhelmingly vast majority of cases. It is difficult to explain on any basis but pure carelessness, for we find the idea that most Sikestonians do not want to be found at home is out of the question. If Sikestonians want to give one another a really wonderful Christmas present, they can manage it by getting and displaying house numbers. In our book a gadget made of black iron and carrying the number in white set near the curb so the figures show up from both directions is perhaps the best, but numbers tacked above a door with a light playing on them also serve the wandering traveler well. Lighted numbers inside a case are nice. Think it over.

The older you are, the more risk there is in marriage.

IT WAS NONE OTHER than James J. Walker who described a reformer as a fellow who rides through a sewer in a glass-bottom boat. . . . A CLIENT SAYS he needs 190 razor strokes for a workday morning shave. 840 strokes for a weekend evening shave. . . . "APRIL IS THE CRUEL month," said Mr. T. S. Eliot. Evidently right. That's when most suicides occur. Why is a mystery.

VIEWPOINT: MISSOURIANS ARE INTERESTED Just how much interest is there in Missouri over Senator Edward V. Long's recent difficulties as exposed by Life magazine.

There are two ways of judging. One is from the editorial comment over Missouri. For the most part, the editorial comment has been most critical of Senator Long.

There seem to be some city newspapers that just can't seem to take a stand on the matter or maybe there is a small slap on the wrist for Senator Long. This is from a newspaper that ordinarily is a most righteous publication. But by far the major portion of editorial comment over this state has been most critical of Missouri's junior senator.

Not too long ago, a television station in Kansas City asked for comment on whether or not the Senate ethics committee had done all that it could in its investigation of Senator Long. The results were interesting. Out of more than 6,000 persons who called in to register a vote, 78 per cent voiced the opinion that the ethics committee had not done its job well and 22 per cent of those voting thought the ethics committee has done well.

Kansas City and Jackson County are Democratic strongholds and the poll results were most indicative of the views in the Kansas City area. These results indicate that Senator Long is in deep, deep trouble over the huge sums of money he received from Morris Shenker, St. Louis attorney.

The Senate ethics committee has another opportunity to show that it is sincerely interested in checking fully on Senator Long's activities. That is the way Missourians want it.

Toward the end of a political campaign, a candidate tries, in a weary sort of way, to be agreeable, but when it is over he admits to his intimate friends that sometimes the people are very trying.

Overheard at the coffee table:
"A sewing circle is a gathering where friendships hang by a thread."

Another landmark, fragment of a beloved tradition, fell before progress at Florence, Ala., recently, when an old church became rubble to make way for a filling station.

Young Homemakers Prefer Fiber Blends, Report Says

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first in a series of articles summarizing the report, "Planning Ahead in a Textiles and Clothing Program for the Delta Area," compiled by Delta homemakers and University of Missouri extension personnel.

YOUNG HOMEMAKER

Situation

PORTAGEVILLE -- A report analyzing the clothing and textile needs in the Delta area is now available to area homemakers.

The report, "Planning Ahead in a Textiles and Clothing Program for the Delta Area," was compiled by Delta homemakers and University of Missouri Extension personnel.

Mrs. Wendell Crosby of Par-committee which prepared the

"Styles are somewhat limited as fashions available are geared to the teenage market. There is

"Programs in clothing should little selection in the half-size meet the needs of all persons involved, just as articles of clothing do."

Purpose of the Delta program was "to make available to the age in dress lining, good construction lacking in men's work-maximum satisfaction from or stretch, durable press-clothing selection, use and care ments that vary in quality."

...This study shows the general situation in the Delta at Young homemakers feel they present, suggests what the goals lack knowledge and competence and objectives of the people relative to textiles and clothing in-manship. Special needs include formation should be five years, selecting clothing for the situation and how to close the gap between coordinating clothing pur-where the people are now and chases with clothing on hand, they desire to be five years planning wardrobes and coor-from now," Mrs. Crosby wrote.

The report is divided into construction features and understanding the characteristics o various fibers and finishes or fabrics.

In the care of clothing, they have problems with stain and grease removal and proper use of laundry aids.

They are concerned with personal appearance and improving their skills in clothing construction.

Recommendations

Problems can be eliminated

by developing educational programs in clothing buymanship and care of clothing, with stress on the importance of reading labels and understanding the characteristics of fibers as well as knowing quality construction features in garments.

To overcome the problem of caring for clothing, weekly laundry clinics might be provided, perhaps at coin-operated laun-dries. These could be developed into spot - cleaning and dry-cleaning clinics.

"To help dry cleaners improve their services, consumers need to be educated to provide the necessary information such as identification of stain, type of fabric, age of stain, exact location on garment."

For clothing construction courses it would be desirable to provide information on selection of appropriate and attractive styles in patterns and fabrics, fitting and altering of patterns and construction methods to produce a finished, professional look.

Television and other mass media could be used to develop improved grooming practices and information on fashion tips.

"Young homemakers should assume their consumership responsibilities by communicating to the retailers and manufacturers their satisfactions and dissatisfactions with garments and fabrics. Manufacturers should be informed of the need for permanent labels providing size, care instructions and fiber content, and of the need for stan-dardization in size, particularly in children's clothing.

"At the retail level it would be more helpful if department heads and sales personnel were more knowledgeable concerning properties of fabrics, qualities of construction, fit and fashion."

Pamphlets and fact sheets about specific textile products could be developed by the Exension division.

Rebs Meet Dogs Fail To Hold SEMO Leaguers Win Six Of Eight Encounters

Dogs Tonight

By Ron Jaynes

Has anyone got a good recipe for preserving something?

Well if you have... the Sikeston Bulldogs could use it... after last night's loss to Cape Central, which marked the second of three defeats the Dogs have suffered after running up large early basketball game leads.

Sikeston jumped to a 29-9 first period lead at the Armory the last night but ended up on the losing end, 77-64 after having a complete lapse in rebounding and shooting in opening the second period.

Cape never let up and crashed into the 20-point deficit with a 21-point second period while setting up a defensive wall that halted the Dogs' offensive punch.

Gary Wissled Sikeston scorers with 19 points and Carl Barnett with 13, pulling a good number of rebounds.

It seemed as though the Dogs had the encounter served up.

They were waiting for a second period kill that never did happen.

Roger Beauden sparked the Tigers comeback with 21 points and numerous rebounds.

As the second period started the Dogs took the first basket and went out front 22 points but that was short lived as Cape surged back into a zone defense after opening with a man-to-man defense and halted the Dogs' offense.

Time and again a Sikeston player would miss an open player under the goal to take a 20-foot shot that fell short. Many a Bulldog player got a defensive rebound, took the ball down court only to fire away at the basket before a play could be set up.

Gary Wissled Sikeston scorers with 19 points and Carl Barnett with 13, pulling a good number of rebounds.

Cape claimed the junior varsity win, 48-46, holding off a Sikeston late surge by the Bulldogs.

Larry Lawrence had 19 points to lead the Dogs scoring. Terry

Kitchen had 21 for Cape.

It's pack your gear for a trip to Clarkton tonight where the Bulldogs look for their second win of the season.

Now it seems as though its going to be a long season for the Bulldogs unless they take the coaching of N. P. McDaniel.

Six of the eight SEMO league basketball teams saw action last night with four taking wins and two suffering losses.

The two big games were the Kennett vs. Clarkton and Poplar Bluff vs. Charleston.

Now it seems as though its going to be a long season for the Bulldogs unless they take the coaching of N. P. McDaniel.

Christmas Holiday Home Tour Planned Dec. 19

MRS. LAVAL SHARP holds a wreath that will greet visitors at her home during the Christmas holidays. The elf astride a reindeer will be among the decorations at the home. The Sharp home is one of five to be toured as part of the Woman's Civic club's holiday home tour Dec. 19.

The Woman's Civic club's Christmas holiday home tour will feature the Bernard Rice home, 1027 North Kingshighway; the Ben Chambers home, 801 Park; the LaVal Sharp home, 23 Green Meadows; the Manuel Drumm home, 4 Cotton Trace and the Dewey Urban home, 920 Moore.

The tour will be Dec. 19 from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Tickets are available from Mrs. D. J. Murback, 471-1148, or Mrs. Jane Gillespie, 471-3293.

Each of the homes will have interior and exterior decorations.

The Sharps are expecting their son and his family, Mr. and Mrs. Val Sharp and son and daughter of Jacksonville, Fla., for the Christmas holidays. One section of the Sharp home will be decorated with a green tree displaying toy ornaments. Another decoration appealing to children will be an elf riding a miniature reindeer.

A gold tree with blue ornaments will attract the adult guests in the Sharp home.

A table set for holiday entertaining will be featured in the Sharp home. Bakery items will be displayed in the kitchen.

Green Christmas trees decorated with colored satin ornaments will be among the festive trimmings greeting guests in the Rice home.

A mantel and stairway decorated with greenery are among other features at the Rice home.

Raggedy Ann and Andy dolls sit around the Christmas tree in the Chambers home. Toy drums, guitars, gingerbread men and dolls are among the tree ornaments.

A holiday greeting suspended between two tall candy canes and a gingerbread man on either side are among the yard decorations at the Chambers home.

A round holly bush on the lawn of the Urban home will serve as the face of a Santa Claus clown. Inside the home highlights will be a decorated organ, dining room and fireplace.

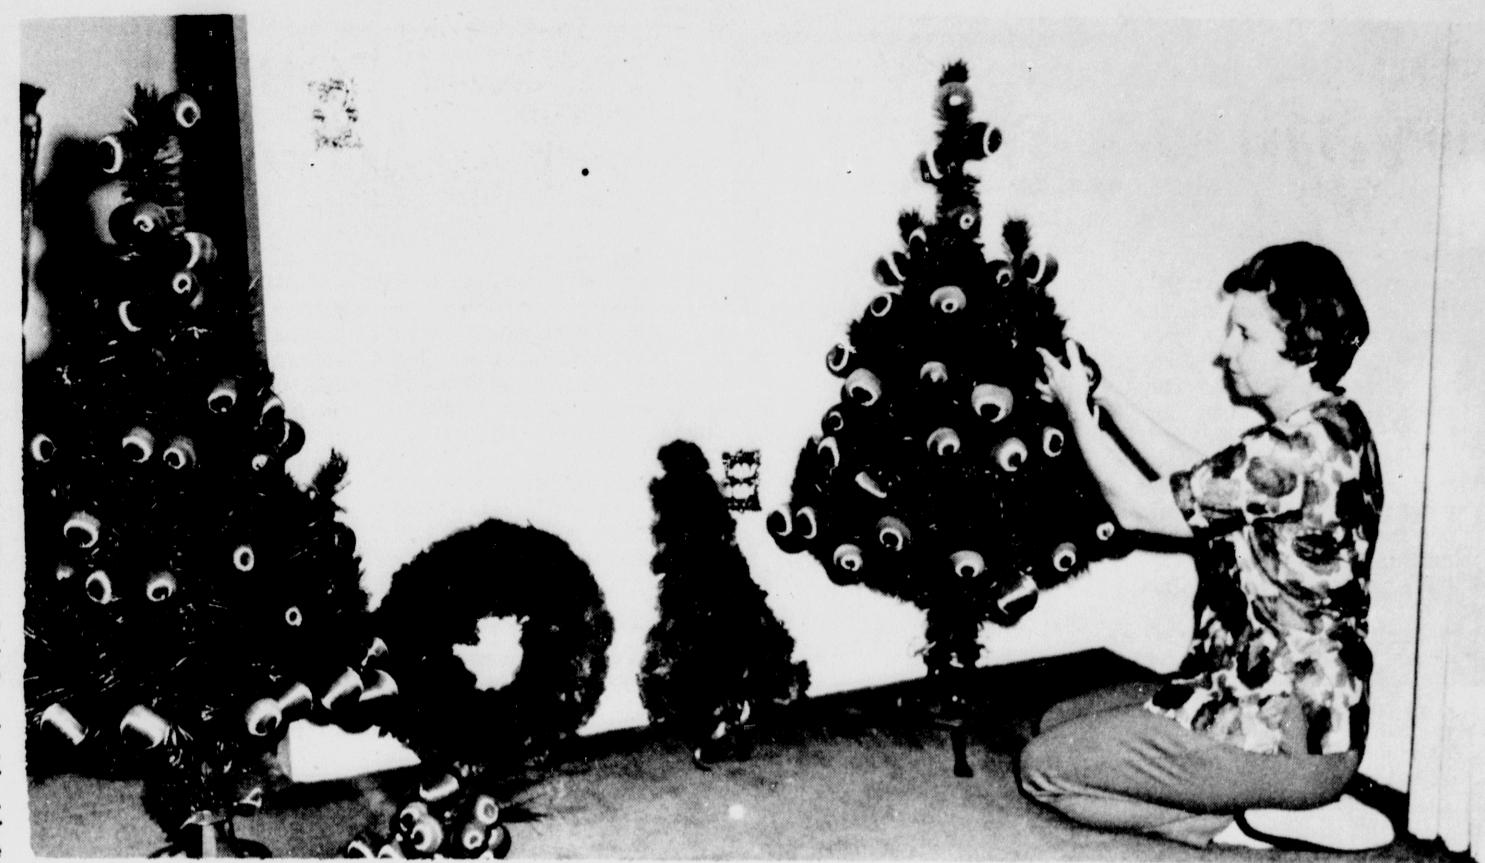

A traditional Christmas theme will be followed in the Drumm home. Among features will be a decorated tree, stairway and holiday candles.

Robert Matthews Jr.

NATIONAL STOCK YARDS, Ill. - A late rally in the hog market put values above those of a week ago, according to St. Louis Producers Live Stock Marketing Association. Otherwise, live stock sales varied from steady to lower.

Salable cattle, calves, hogs and sheep of $3,549 head were slightly smaller than those of a week ago and substantially up from the 48-058 the corresponding time last year.

Hogs finished 25 to 50¢ net higher on barrows and gilts, the closing top $18.75 cwt., as against peaks of $18.50 a week ago and $21.75 a year ago. Sows figured unevenly 25¢ to $1.00 lower with weights over 500 lbs. at the full decline. Sales late were downward from $15.00.

Cattle rates turned downward under a slightly larger volume and some early weakness in the dressed trade. Beef prices showed subsequent improvement, but this came to late to be reflected in the live market.

Slaughter steers lost 50¢ to 75¢ had heifers dropped 50¢ to $1.00, instances $1.25, which more than canceled and strength of the week before. Cows sold off $1 to 1.50 and bulls remained unchanged.

A lot of high Choice and Prime 1,000 lb. steers topped at $27 followed by few lots of Choice and Prime 900 to 1,025 lbs. at $26.50 to 26.75 and 1,150 to 1,225 pounds $26.25 to 26.50. Choice 950 to 1,200 lb. steers brought $25.50 to 26.50; mixed good and choice $25 to 26 and Good $23 to 25.50.

High Choice and prime 900 to 950 lb. heifers $25.50 to 27.75; choice 800 to 1,000 lbs. $24.50 to 25.50; high good and low choice 800 to 950 lbs. $23.50 to 24.75; Good $21.50 to 23.50. Utility and commercial cows late $14 to 16 a few $16.50.

Vealers and slaughter calves maintained a stable basis, choice vealers $31 to 34, a few $35. Feeder cattle and calves were moderately active and steady to 50 cents reduced. Lambs sagged late to close the week 50 cents to $1 lower. Choice 85 to 100 pound offerings $22 to 24.50, a few prime early to $25. Late sales were downward from $24. Slaughter ewes figured steady to 50 cents lower, utility to choice $4 to 6.50, a few early $7.

Quality of

Cotton High

HAYTI -- The weekly report for the south central area, United States department of agriculture, covering ten cotton regions in five southern states, continues to report a high micronaire reading as of Monday.

The seven-county Bootheel rates among the top for the season in micronaire reading.

Fiber strength continues to rank high in the 75 to 95 per cent rating, with an average of 80 per cent, compared to Little Rock and Blytheville areas with 81 per cent.

The report indicated that samples have been made on 51,921 bales, the lowest in several years, compared to the highest sampling done in the Greenwood, Miss., area on 696,700 bales.

SCOTT COUNTY
Ramblings

by Tom Stroup
Director and Agricultural Agent

BENTON - Cattlemen grazing their beef cows on stalk fields often ask what supplements they need to feed under these circumstances.

Corn stalks as a feed for pregnant beef cows are deficient in protein, vitamin A, phosphorus and perhaps some of the trace minerals. For best utilization of the corn stalks, cows should have access to supplements that furnish these nutrients.

However, some recent work at Iowa State University suggests that protein supplementation may not be needed if plenty of forage is available for the cows. In their experiment, good production performance was obtained with cows that were allowed two acres of corn stalks per head containing from three to five bushels of corn per acre left after harvesting. The only supplement the cattle received was a salt-mineral-vitamin A mix fed free-choice that contained two parts of plain salt, one part mineral iodized salt, one part steamed bone meal, and a vitamin A supplement that provided two-point-three million International Units of vitamin A per pound.

Handling Feeder Calves
A good number of cattle feeders have bought feeder calves this fall. Some are wondering how they should handle the calves now to winter and graze next summer. Our Extension Livestock Specialist, Homer Sewell, says calves to be grazed should be wintered on rations that grow but do not fatten the calf. Calves should gain about one to one-and-a-quarter pounds daily during the winter if they are to go to grass in the spring with out grain.

On The Fence Row

By Tom Brown

BLOOMFIELD - Cotton farmers should make plans now for the planting needed to plant their 1968 cotton crop. All indications point to the fact that the supply of good planting seed for next year's cotton crop will be low. Estimates by cotton authorities indicate that the 1967 United States cotton crop will amount to 8.1 million bales which represents the smallest cotton crop produced by U.S. growers since 1921. Estimates for Missouri indicate that approximately 55,000 bales will be produced this year, which will be the smallest Missouri cotton crop since 1915. Consequently, the supply of planting seed from this year's cotton crop will be the smallest in many years.

As we remember very well, a small cotton crop was also produced in 1966 when approximately 10 million bales were produced compared to an average annual crop of approximately 15 million bales produced during the 1961-65 period. In addition, a large volume of planting seed was used during 1966 and 1967 when many local farmers planted cotton two or three times and such replanting was done throughout much of the Cotton Belt. Consequently, very little carry-over planting seed is expected to be available.

In addition, the demand for cotton seed is expected to be considerably greater for the 1968 cotton crop. Indications are that a much larger acreage of cotton will be planted next year provided seed are available. This increased interest in cotton production is the result of the prospects for more favorable cotton prices and more liberal provisions of the 1968 cotton program resulting from the decreased stocks of cotton now on hand.

As the above factors indicate, the demand for seed for the 1968 crop will be great. Local farmers are urged to take whatever steps are necessary to obtain the seed needed to plant next year's crop early. Taking such steps now may mean the difference in getting your planned acreage of cotton planted next spring and not getting it planted.

Farmers who have cotton seed are urged to save all available seed that would be desirable for planting. As the above would indicate, price prospects for cotton seed are also good. Incidentally, cotton seed can be tested at either the University of Missouri seed testing laboratory in Columbia or the state seed testing laboratory in Jefferson City any time between now and planting time.

Above Prices Include Labor and Following Parts: -- I.H. Fire Crater, Sleeves and Pistons with Rings and Pins; Main Bearings; Connecting Rod Locks; Connecting Rod Bearings; Piston Pin Bushings; Exhaust Valves; Intake Valves; Gasket Set; Breather Element; Oil Filter Element; Set of Points; Condenser; Spark Plugs. Mr. Farmer: Are you getting the maximum horsepower from your diesel engine? Are you wasting fuel which is very costly?

Don't Guess, know positively. We have purchased a DIESEL FUEL RATOR to answer these questions. It is a positive method of measuring fuel consumption while the engine is operating at rated load and/or at minimum overload speeds and to ascertain that the specified amount of fuel is being delivered to an engine.

RESULTS OF OVERFUELING

EXCESSIVE EXHAUST SMOKE

CARBON BUILD-UP IN ENGINE

PISTON DAMAGE - BURNED OR SCORED

EXCESSIVE HEAT & VALVE BURNING

NOZZLE COKING & OVERHEATING

PLUGGED ORIFICES & INJECTOR FAILURE

EXCESSIVE FIRING PRESSURES

WASTED FUEL

CONTAMINATION IN CRANKCASE DUE TO UNBURNED FUEL. THIS WASHES DOWN THE CYCLINER CYLINDER WALL AND CAUSES PREMATURE RING WEAR.

Present day diesel engines require extremely accurate adjustment of the fuel limiting devices for the engine to deliver the specified horsepower without encountering failures from overfueling. The procedure of adjusting fuel rate while observing exhaust smoke is at best an educated guess.

Spot Cotton
Trading Rises

YAYTI - Trading in spot cotton increased on most markets in Missouri this week. Demand was strengthened, but prices were steady to slightly lower, according to the U.S. department of agriculture's Hayti classing office.

Most farmers offered cotton at the current level of prices, but others were holding their recent ginnings in hopes that prices would strengthen. Prices paid for mixed lost of Low Middling through Middling and Light Spotted grades ranged from $22.50 cents a pound. Mixed lost of Low Middling and Higher White staples ranged generally from 22.50 cents a pound. Forty-two per cent of the samples classed last week mixed in the premium range of 3.5 to 4.0.

Mike readings continued to drop, however, and averaged 3.4 for longer brought from 27.00 to 30.0 cents. Some discounts due to week. An "actaublicorist" is a low mike readings was generally included in these prices.

The harvest was delayed person who collects historic throughout most of the week by old newspapers.

MEMPHIS -- Prices on cottonseed in Missouri and Tennessee remained unchanged, at $50.55 per ton, for the week ending Thursday.

Grades for the Missouri counties ranged from 92.5 to 98.5 moisture content, compared to a high of 96.5-102 per cent.

The price on cottonseed meal sold for an average of $79-$90 per ton. Cottonseed hull averaged from $22 to $31 ton.

Mr. Farmer: Are you getting the maximum horsepower from your diesel engine? Are you wasting fuel which is very costly?

Don't Guess, know positively. We have purchased a DIESEL FUEL RATOR to answer these questions. It is a positive method of measuring fuel consumption while the engine is operating at rated load and/or at minimum overload speeds and to ascertain that the specified amount of fuel is being delivered to an engine.

The above employee, DICK BLACK, just returned from the latest International Harvester School on servicing, adjustments, & specifications on the diesel engine and the fuel rator.

WITH THE COLD WET SPRING THIS YEAR FARMERS DIDN'T APPLY ALL THE FERTILIZER THEY HAD INTENDED. BY USING FALL APPLICATIONS YOU CAN TAKE ADVANTAGE OF THIS UNIQUE SITUATION. THERE IS LESS TROUBLE GETTING THE ANALYSIS WANTED, AS WELL AS EASIER ACCESS TO SPREADER EQUIPMENT. ANOTHER GOOD ADVANTAGE IS THE REDUCTION IN SPRING FIELD WORK. Slaughter ewes figured steady to 50 cents lower, utility to choice $4 to 6.50, a few early $7.

Quality of Cotton High

HAYTI -- The weekly report for the south central area, United States department of agriculture, covering ten cotton regions in five southern states, continues to report a high micronaire reading of Monday.

The seven - county Bootheel rates among the top for the season in micronaire reading.

Fiber strength continues to rank high in the 75 to 95 per cent rating, with an average of 80 per cent, compared to Little Rock and Blytheville areas with 81 per cent.

The report indicated that samplings have been made on 51,922 bales, the lowest in several years, compared to the highest of the Cotton Belt. Consequently, sampling done in the Greenwood, very little carry-over planting Miss., area on 696,700 bales, seed is expected to be available.

NATIONAL STOCK YARDS, Ill. A late rally in the hog market put values above those of a week ago, according to St. Louis Producers Live Stock Marketing Association. Otherwise, live stock sales varied from steady to lower.

Salable cattle, calves, hogs and sheep of $5,549 head were slightly smaller than those of a week ago and substantially up from the 48,058 the corresponding time last year.

Hogs finished 25 to 50¢ net higher on barrows and gilts, the closing top $18.75 cwt, as against peaks of $18.50 a week ago and $21.75 a year ago. Sows figured unevenly 25¢ to $1.00 lower with weights over 500 lbs. at the full decline. Sales late were down ward from $15.00.

Cattle rates turned downward under a slightly larger volume and some early weakness in the dressed trade. Beef prices showed subsequent improvement, but this came to late to be reflected in the live market. Slaughter steers lost 50¢ to 75¢ had heifers dropped 50¢ to $1.00, instances $1.25, which more than canceled and strength of the week before. Cows sold off $1 to 1.50 and bulls remained unchanged.

A lot of high Choice and Prime 1,000 lb. steers topped at $27 followed by a few lots of Choice and Prime 900 to 1,025 lbs. at $26.50 to 26.75 and 1,150 to 1,225 pounds $26.25 to 26.50. Choice 950 to 1,200 lb. steers brought $25.50 to 26.50; mixed good and choice $25 to 26 and Good $23 to 25.50.

High Choice and prime 900 to 950 lb. heifers $25.50 to 25.75; choice 800 to 1,000 lbs. $24.50 to 25.50; high good and low choice 800 to 950 lbs. $23.50 to 24.75; Good $21.50 to 23.50. Utility and commercial cows late $14 to 16 a few $16.50.

Vealers and slaughter calves maintained a stable basis, choice vealers $31. to 34., a few $35. Feeder cattle and calves were moderately active and steady to 50 cents reduced. Lambs sagged late to close the week 50 cents to $1 lower. Choice 85 to 110 pound offerings $22 to 24.50, a few prime early to $25. Late sales were downward from $24. Slaughter ewes figured steady to 50 cents lower, utility to choice $4 to 6.50, a few early $7.

As we remember very well, a small cotton crop was also produced in 1966 when approximately 10 million bales were produced compared to an average annual crop of approximately 15 million bales produced during the 1961-65 period. In addition, a large volume of planting seed was used during 1966 and 1967 when many local farmers planted cotton two or three times and such replanting was done throughout much of the Cotton Belt. Consequently, sampling done in the Greenwood, very little carry-over planting time.

Trading Rises

HAYTI -- Trading in spot cotton increased on most markets in Missouri this week. Demand strengthened, but prices were steady to slightly lower, according to the U. S. department of agriculture's Hayti classing office.

Most farmers offered cotton freely at the current level of prices, but others were holding their recent ginnings in hopes that prices would strengthen. Prices paid for mixed lot of Low Middling through Middling spotted and light spotted grades were 62 per cent 1-1/16 inches, and 24 per cent 1-1/32 inches. Forty-two per cent of the samples classed last week mixed in the premium range of 3.5 to 4.9.

Grades for the Missouri counties ranged from 92.5 to 98.5 moisture content, compared to a high of 96.5402 per cent.

The price on cottonseed meal sold for an average of $79-$90 per ton. Cottonseed hull averaged from $22 - $31 ton.

The Daily Standard, Sikeston, Mo.
Saturday, December 9, 1967

The cottonseed supplies for the 1967-68 season on Aug. 5 were 3.5 million tons, 15 per cent below last year and 44 per cent below the 1961-65 average.

Crushings this year are estimated at 34 million tons against 3.8 million tons last year. An estimated 200 million fans throughout the world watch soccer on an average weekend.

WHAT is the world's largest nonprofit photographic organization devoting its entire efforts to promoting the arts and sciences of photography?

Answer: PSA. The initials stand for Photographic Society of America, a misnomer at the outset because PSA has members not only in all states of America and 11 Canadian provinces but also in 65 other countries.

Recently, in Seattle, 1,434 of these camera enthusiasts gathered for one of the most exciting and significant conventions the society has conducted in years.

As Col. Joe E. Kennedy stepped in as 10th president, flanked by an aggressive staff reporters were saying that "the society is seemingly turning a new corner."

One indication is that PSA awarded its highest honor (Progress Medal) to photography's greatest living exponent, Capt. Edward Steichen. The International Understanding - through Photography Award, sponsored by Nixon marketers, was voted to Alfred Eisenstaedt.

But perhaps the most significant award of all went to John and Jane Photographer, everywhere, as the society opened its doors for the first time in its 33-year history to a new competitive category titled "Contemporary Photography."

This action signifies a long-anticipated end of the asocial era among photographers, amateur and professional. Tree-ships were granted to Anson's stamp photos may soon be super-seded by vibrant, life-of-today Kodak's Paul Arnold; Boles' Ernst Wildi; and Happy Seven.

Highlight among a dozen field trips was a visit to Boeing's plant, where PSAs became the first amateur group to aim cameras at the fantastic new Boeing 747.

Some of the photos will doubtless find their way into the PSA's national speaker's program, recorded lectures program, or any of dozens of other activities (including "round-the-world" camera treks) sponsored by some of the society's seven divisions: color slides, motion pictures, nature, photo-journalism, pictorial, stereo and technical.

How does one become a member of PSA? A query, accompanied by a print or color slide, to the Philadelphia headquarters on 2005 Walnut St., Philadelphia, Pa. 19103.

The society's official publication, the "PSA Journal," reflects the new trend with a recent issue on "Esthetic Approach to South Africa."

More than 100 photographic experts presented programs ranging from "Caravans in Ancient Egypt" to "Birds of the Americas."

Congolese girls (right) are also learning how to make their own clothes. These are just two of the many countries of the world where sewing classes are conducted by Catholic Relief Services.

For these lads from Manila's slums, operating a sewing machine is not only an exciting new experience, it can also help them become self-sufficient by learning the tailoring trade. Half way around the world, the aid Relief Services.

and their families.

In sewing classes conducted around the world by Catholic Relief Services, the overseas aid agency of American Catholics, people learn how clothes are made by taking used garments apart and then remaking them.

Materials for these sewing classes are the serviceable used garments contributed by Americans during the annual Catholic Bishops' Thanksgiving Clothing Campaign, which will be distributed to needy men, women and children overseas without regard to race or creed.

Learning how to sew can mean a stitch in time for the world's need, for it not only enables these people to make and mend their own clothes, but in good condition to their local Catholic church.

Thanks to these donations, children like the Asian boy being outfitted (left), or the little Congolese girl who is so proud of her new dress (above) can have the garments that mean comfort, happiness — and often survival.

Answer: PSA. The initials stand for Photographic Society of America, a misnomer at the outset because PSA has members not only in all states of America and 11 Canadian provinces but also in 65 other countries.

Recently, in Seattle, 1,434 of these camera enthusiasts gathered for one of the most exciting and significant conventions the society has conducted in years.

As Col. Joe F. Kennedy stepped in as 10th president, flanked by an aggressive staff, reporters were saying that "the society is seemingly turning a new corner."

One indication is that PSA awarded its highest honor (Progress Medal) to photography's greatest living exponent, Capt. Edward Steichen. The International Understanding Through Photography Award, sponsored by Nikon marketers, was voted to Alfred Eisenstaedt.

But perhaps the most significant award of all went to John and Jane Photographer, everywhere, as the society opened its doors for the first time in its 33-year history to a new competitive category titled "Contemporary Photography."

This action signifies a long-anticipated end of the ashcan era among photographers, amateur and professional. Tree-stump photos may soon be superseded by vibrant, life-of-today entries from the society's 10,400 members and more than 35,000 affiliates in local, regional, national and international competitions conducted in more than 100 cities annually.

The society's official publication, the "PSA Journal," reflects the new trend with a recent issue having a cover illustration of an esthetic nude, and a five-page hike from Johannesburg to South Africa.

More than 100 photographic experts presented programs ranging from "Caravans in Ancient Egypt" to the Philadelphia headquarters.

SMALLEST WEAPON AGAINST WORLD POVERTY — SEWING NEEDLES

For these lads from Manila's slums, operating a sewing machine is not only an exciting new experience, it can also help them become self-sufficient by learning the tailoring trade. Half way around the world, the

In sewing classes conducted around the world by Catholic Relief Services, the overseas aid agency of American Catholics, people learn how clothes are made by taking used garments apart and then remaking them.

Materials for these sewing classes are the serviceable used garments contributed by Americans during the annual Catholic Bishops' Thanksgiving Clothing Campaign, which will be distributed to needy men, women and children overseas without regard to race or creed.

Learning how to sew can mean a stitch in time for the world's needy, for it not only enables these people to make and mend their own clothes, but in many cases gives men and women the skill they need to support themselves

Again this year, during November, people are asked to take clothing, shoes, bedding, and other items that are used, but in good condition to their local Catholic church.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband became disgusted with the way we had been wearing his hair. The boy liked it full on the sides and a lot longer than my husband thought was necessary.

After repeated suggestions that Rod get a haircut (all ignored) my husband decided to teach his son a lesson by letting his own hair grow long as the boy could see what it looks like.

(My husband's hair is very curly, and after four weeks without a haircut he looked as if he was wearing a fright wig.)

Next Monday is parents night at the high school. This morning Rod asked his dad to please get a haircut before he showed up at school. His dad replied,
"My hair doesn't look any worse than yours, but I'll get a haircut tonight if you will."

Rod said he wouldn't get a short haircut but he'd let the barber trim off "a couple of inches."

Tonight at the dinner table I sat with two very attractive, well-groomed gentlemen. I thought I'd let you know how the hair problem was solved in at least one family. -- RELIEVED

Dear Relieved: The solution took a lot of courage. Not every man would or could do it. (I'll bet your husband is self-employed.)
Most bosses would not put up with long curly hair on a man who is trying to teach his son a lesson.)

Dear Ann Landers: I am 30, attractive, unmarried, successful

If You Were The Judge

Patrons Accept Risk of Swinging Bowling Balls

BY JACK STRAUSS, L.L.D.

Muscles McGirk entered a bowling alley, accompanied by his rippling biceps, and proceeded to pick up a ball from a rack to test its weight. Swinging it back and forth as freely as if it were made of solid air, McGirk inadvertently struck Nellie in the belly as she went walking by. She sailed across the bowling alley from the impact, later sued the owner of the bowling emporium for her injuries.

"The proprietor of a bowling alley has a duty to protect his patrons," she complained in court. "He shouldn't permit people to go swinging bowling balls around like they're shillelaghs."

"Swinging bowling balls to test them" responded the proprietor, "is as common as a bowling alley as a beer frame. You've got to watch out for both of them."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you spare the owner of the bowling alley or would you make him pay for Nellie's injuries?

This is now the judge ruled: Nellie didn't collect. The judge held that a person assumes all normal, obvious and ordinary risks connected with the use of a bowling alley; that picking up a ball from a rack and swinging it back and forth, to test its weight, is a normal, obvious and ordinary happening in a bowling alley.

Extension Centers

Take Applications

For Trainees

BENTON -- University of Missouri extension councils in Scott, Mississippi, Stoddard, New Madrid, Pemiscot, and Dunklin counties announced this week they are seeking applicants for trainees in their homemaker development program.

Funds are expected to be available starting Jan. 1, 1968 from the bureau of public works, which will provide training for 25 unemployed women in the six county program. The extension councils will operate the program as a delegate agency of the Delta Area Economic Oppor-

"marriage" would make the trip completely respectable. I wonder why he hasn't thought of it.

Dear Ann Landers: No earth-shaking problem, this one, but I'd like to help a sweet kid who came to work in this office three weeks ago. She's from a small town and probably doesn't know any better. Every day she comes to work dressed as if she's going to a party. She wears beaded dresses, lace, feathers and fur, and I suspect she has shortened someone's coat off evening gowns. Should I tell her at the risk of hurting her feelings? BIG Q

Dear Big: Offer to shop with her for office-type clothes. The "sweet kid" obviously needs a friend. Be one.

Is alcoholism a disease? How can the alcoholic be treated? Is there a cure? Read the booklet "Alcoholism -- Hope and Help," by Ann Landers. Enclose 35 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. in referring to Christ.

He will feed his flock like a shepherd, he will gather the lamb in his arms, he will carry them in his bosom, and gently lead those that are with young. (Isaiah 40:11, RSV)

PRAYER: Give us of Thy spirit Lord, that we may see clearly and understand more fully the meaning of Thy great love for us. In the name of Christ, through whom this becomes possible. Amen.

An early edition of the King James Bible, published in 1613, is known as the "She Bible" due to a printing error in referring to Christ.

Court Test Coming on Welfare Residency Laws

WASHINGTON (AP) — In Delaware, at least, is expected to join. Elsewhere in the nation's no longer make it a crime to courts the attack on residency bring a poor man into the state. barriers continues, with the California had argued to no open support of the Office of avail that a huge influx of Economic Opportunity. Depression migrants had increased the state's taxes and of the OEO's Legal Services the cost of welfare outlays.

The California law, said Justice James F. Byrnes, posed an down: "Once the challenge is unconstitutional barrier to the made, the illegality has come interstate movement of commerce—which to the 1941 refinement will continue." Court meant people as well as the authorization for residency restrictions came with congressional enactment of welfare programs in 1935. In the case of aid to dependent children—the program specifically involved in the Connecticut appeal—states cannot impose waiting periods greater than one year without losing federal money.

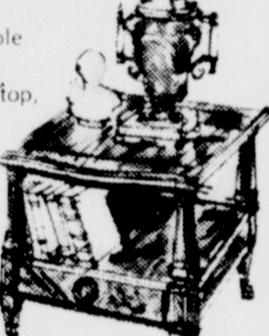

Now, 26 years later, the Supreme Court is being called upon to decide if the states can protect themselves against increased welfare costs by barring aid to new residents. Three federal courts in Connecticut, Delaware and the District of Columbia have ruled per cent. Last year, according to government figures $2,265,346,000 was spent on the aid to dependent children program, with the federal contribution — $1,299,490,000 — accounting for 57.4 percent of the total.

The latest figures, for July, show 4,978,000 persons appealed to the Supreme Court sisted.

Cairo Woman

Dies in Fire

CAIRO — A Cairo woman perished Friday in a fire which almost totally destroyed a residence.

Roxie Reed, who lived in one of the downstairs apartments in the frame building, was found suffocated lying near a rear door. She had apparently tried to escape but could not get out in time.

Another resident, Bernadine Pierce, escaped the building without injury.

Firemen arriving at the scene after 1 a.m., found the fire centered in the rear and upper portions of the building.

They fought the fire more than an hour before bringing it under control.

It was nearly 30 minutes after firemen arrived before they could set into the portion of the building in which the elderly Reed woman was found.

Fire Chief Lewis Edwards said the two-story apartment house was gutted by the fire.

Residents of the building were unable to salvage any belongings.
